

Dear Readers, here are links to additional resources for selected poems in Singer Come from Afar, by Kim Stafford (Red Hen Press, 2021).

I invite you to direct your phone's camera to a QR code on this page, and, with luck, your phone will bring you the resource. You may need to go to settings/camera/"enable QR reader" .... or use a separate QR app. And you may need to tap the message that appears on your phone screen when you try this... or there's a chance it may not work, depending on phone, location, or other mystic quirk. We're exploring ways here to help poetry be at our fingertips in many forms....

Hear a poem: "Practicing the Complex Yes" (p. 31)

Hear a poem accompanied by Bethany Lee on harp: "Easy Pickings" (p. 125)

Read a poem in Spanish: "Dear Mr. President" (p. 19)

View a poem as a film, "Lessons from a Tree" (p. 65)

First draft of a poem: "Shelter in Place" (p. 53)

Where a poem was written: “At the Meadow” (p. 67)

How a poem came to be: “Inmate Calls Home” (p. 50)

Find writing prompts based on poems in this book

Learn more about the book:

Attend one of 10 online readings from the book in Spring 2021.

Bonus: hear a poem (from my previous book, Wild Honey, Tough Salt) read by a child:
“Cascade Rapids, with Fisherman”

Kim Stafford